UNDERSTANDING PACE OF PLAY

Pace of play is based on a foursome playing our golf course

Expectation

A foursome must play our golf course at a maximum of four hours; this applies to all other groups as well.

Out of Position

To be behind pace, a group must be behind pace of play (time) and a gap must appear in between them and the group in front of them.

Additional Information

- Just because there's a gap doesn't mean the group in front of you is behind pace.
- Just because there's multiple groups on one hole doesn't mean there's a pace of play issue.
- If you are a single, twosome or threesome behind a foursome it's likely you'll play quicker than that group which could result in the smaller group frequently waiting. However, the foursome is entitled to their four hours regardless of the groups size behind them.

Why? You might ask...

Because pace is always based on time and a groups position on the golf course. If you can't check the box on both items, a group is not behind.
